OREGON'S COLLEGE

NOW 600 STUDENTS IN AGRICULTURAL INSTITUTIONS

Fully 700 Expected Before Close of Year—Oregon's Largest Institution of Learning—Receives Both State and Federal Aid—Over 500 Graduates Holding Lucrative Positions—W. F. Herron, a Graduate, Draws $70,000 Per Year Salary as an Attorney for Southern Pacific.

The Oregon Agricultural college, located at Corvallis, is by far the largest institution of learning in the state. Six years ago half a dozen schools outranked the Agricultural college in point of numbers. At the present time the O. A. C. has an attendance of about 600 students, and the list will swell to 650 or 700 this year, which is twice the patronage of any other institution of higher learning in Oregon.

The Agricultural college is the richest institution in learning in Oregon, for the reason that the state and the national government are both liberally patronizing it. A half million or more has already been spent in buildings which are 13 in number; and these are handsomely supplied with the latest appliances in pharmacy, chemistry, physics, mechanics, agricultural, horticultural, bacteriology and other departments of science. Thirty-five instructors are regularly employed with Doctor Thomas M. Gatch as president. Under Dr. Gatch as president, more students have graduated than under any other president in the Northwest.

The college offers nine regular courses of study, viz.: Pharmacy, agriculture, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, mining, household science, literary commerce, including bookkeeping, typewriting, commercial arithmetic, commercial law and stenography; instrumental music and vocal music. The first seven of these being free to all, while a small charge is made for vocal and instrumental music. In addition to these regular courses of study, many students take special courses in free-hand drawing, elocution, literature and other culture studies.

As stated, tuition in the first seven courses is free. Board is about $3 a week for the 36 weeks of school; and books cost from $7 to $11 per year. The ordinary students earn $30 at odd hours during the school year and a large number of boys save $100 during the three months of summer vacation. This is proof conclusive that a fine practical education is what we are ready to give any boy or girl with sufficient determination.

The Oregon Agricultural college has 500 graduates holding lucrative positions, while the highest salary paid on the Pacific coast—$70,000—is received by W. F. Herron, counsel for the Southern Pacific railroad at San Francisco. He is a graduate from the O. A. C. Mr. Herron was a poor boy and worked his way through college. By his example he has proven to many poor boys that those through industry may obtain a first-class education in Oregon.

There are 13 churches located in Corvallis, hence the city has become noted for its refined society. On account of the healthy location of the town the state board of health has made special mention of the high sanitary condition of the town.

Students from Eastern Oregon as a rule rank high in their work. On account of the sparseness of first-class rural schools in some localities, it sometimes happens that they start in school a little behind their classmates in some of their studies, but almost invariably, they make good the deficiency in a remarkably short period, graduating with their fellow students. A large number of the Salutatorians and Valedictorians who have received honors from the O. A. C., were from Eastern Oregon.

The Agricultural college is open to all high school students and 8th grade graduates not accessible to any high school, may enter the sub-freshmen department. Students are admitted at all times of the year. Persons interested should address the president, who will furnish catalogs and other necessary information, free of charge.

MONOPOLE

MAMA won't let me take any other brand of canned fruit or vegetables from the grocer 'cause she says Monopole is the best. Since Mama has been using Monopole canned fruit she has to lock it up, as my brothers, Jim and Jack, would eat it all up, it's so good.

PAPA says that Monopole canned oysters, lobster and crab are the best he ever tasted, and the salmon is out of sight, whatever he means by that. The oysters are all full size and have a delicious flavor.

WARNING

Don't allow your grocer to substitute any other brand for Monopole. Something just as good only exists in the brain of the dealer who wants to sell inferior goods that pay a larger profit. Assert your rights and insist on receiving this brand. After one trial you will use no other.
